Epson UltraChrome RS Resin Ink is designed to compete with products marketed as latex. It features a similar aqueous (water-based) construction that has been formulated to meet the same ecological and OH&S certifications while offering enhanced scratch resistance and curing at a lower temperature. The reduced curing temperature enables compatibility with an enhanced range of media. When applied with Epson print head, image processing and production technology it enables output with superior consistency and colour gamut. It suits a wide range of applications including durable indoor/outdoor signage, banners, wall coverings, decals/stickers, film and custom fabric.
